TO THE READER.

IN the Preface concerning the Service of the Church, Compiled Tempore Edwardi VI, Printed in our excellent Liturgy; we find Mention made of a Missale secundum usum Hereford, which prevail'd in several Churches before the Reformation; tho' that which was most generally followed, was the Salisbury Missale, divers Editions of which we meet with in Print: Whether any of the Hereford were publish'd in like manner is not certain, but it is presum'd they were not; the MS is also very scarce. In the only one I have ever seen, there is prefix'd before the Service, a Kalendar of the Obits of several Benefactors to this Cathedral, whose Anniversaries were here accordingly celebrated. It seems to have been compiled Tempore Edwardi III, tho' the Commemorations don't extend so low, and are chiefly confin'd between Henry I, or William Rufus's Reign, and Edward II; or rather before the Statute of Mortmain; except some few, which are added by a later Hand, and are here distinguish'd by Crotchets. The whole is fairly wrote on Vellum, and the Principal Benefactors are put in Red Letters, and the rest in Black; which Distinction is here observed by putting the former in Italick. The MS being carefully transcrib'd, I shall detain the Reader with no farther Account of it, than to remark, that it illustrates several of the Charters hereunto annex'd, and informs us of the Days of the Decease of several Bishops, and others of this Church, no-where else to be found.

I may perhaps be expected, that, according to the Common Custom, the World should be troubled with a long Harangue on the Usefulness of the Study of Antiquities, particularly of this Species of them; and that some particular Account should be given of the Compiler and his Work. As to the One, He is not so vain, as to think he shall get any Reputation by prefixing his Name on a Title-Page; or does he desire by such means to purchase the Name of an Editor. He loves too well Obscurity, to gratify the Curiosity of any at that Rate. As to the other, To preserve the Memories of our Ancient Noble Benefactors, and the Characters drawn of them by their Cotemporaries, in their Monumental Eulogies; he thinks it a Work of Gratitude to them and Posterity, as well as a curious Satisfaction to ourselves.

*To Two Happy Masters in these Studies we owe those noble Remains of Antiquity, preserv'd by * DUGDALE and † GUNTON, who themselves foresaw, and in some measure eluded that Destruction by their Labours, which soon after they saw performed by Fanatical Fury; when an Unnatural Rebellion was attended by the most horrid Impieties; when a Prophanation of all Holy Places, and a Demolition of whatever was useful, ornamental, or any-way contributed to the Beauty of Holiness, became the more peculiar Mark of those purer Zealots. When we see in those Sacred Repositories, I just now mentioned, the Pourtraits and Inscriptions of those breathing Marbles, which the Rage of a devouring Fire, and the hotter Spirit of Enthusiasm have destroyed or defaced; do we not applaud the Diligence and Foresight, not to give it a higher Term, of those who have preserved the Memories of so many Heroick Minds,* which, without their Care, had now been lost? As the goodly Remains of the Monasteries (those Fountains of diffusive Charity and Learning) given us in LELAND's Works, and the MONASTICON, are a sufficient Testimony of their former Grandeur, and Use to the Commonweal, and strike us at once with an Admiration of the Generosity of their Founders and Benefactors, and the Magnificence of their Publick Edifices; so their Ruins fill us with Indignation at that infamous Sacrilege and Devastation committed on them and all Posterity at the Reformation, a Work difficult and glorious in itself! but attended with so flaming and indiscreet a Zeal, that almost eat up the Honour of God's House. To the intemperate Heats of that Time was owing the Loss of many valuable Reliques of venerable Antiquity. Our CHURCHES were turn'd into Stables and Guard-Rooms, and fill'd with all manner of Pollutions; our UNIVERSITIES the Receptacles of a Lawless Military Power, and the Scum of the Earth; and that they shall never be so again, is what our infinite Impieties will not permit us to determine. If such ever should be our Misfortune, which God forbid, by Works of this Nature, the precious Memories of our Freinds and Benefactors will most probably escape the general Wreck, when their Marbles are become the Prey of Time, or more merciless Fanaticism.

The P R E F A C E.

In the general Havock, this CHURCH did not entirely escape; but, I think, met with better Quarter from the Scottish Covenanters, than most of our Cathedrals, tho' she does not want some Tokens of their Spleen. The Statues of several of her Prelates were defaced; her Windows, which were so many Memorials of British Beneficence, shattered; the Brass Plates on her Grave-Stones, as usual, turn'd into Cannon against their PRINCE; and their Library plunder'd of their most valuable MSS. which is still visible from the many Chasms in their Desks.

It may perhaps be expected that some Apology should be made for the irregular Placing some of the Monuments, after the Account of the College of Vicars; but in defence of this Neglect, the Scaffolds, and Disorder the Church was in, when this Survey was first taken, at the time it was Beautifying, may be urged in the Behalf of the Neglect of those future Discoveries printed afterwards. These were afterwards supplied by an able Pen, to whom the World is obliged, as well for that large Account of the Bishops and Deans, as for some other Works of this Nature, lately handed by him to the Press. That Excellent and Learned Gentleman has already given us sufficient Proofs of his Skill in Antiquities; and may (if his Modesty Modesty and Health permit him) exhibit a greater Proof of his Abilities in his Antiquities of Buckinghamshire; and that to as great an Advantage as DUGDALE has done for his Native County of Warwick.

*The Appendix to this Work contains some valuable Papers, the first of which I have accounted for in Page 145; and the Charters are transcribed with Fidelity and Care from an antient MS. preserved in the Publick Library at Oxford. This once belong'd to that bountiful Patron of Learning and Loyalty, Dr. JOHN FELL, Bishop of Oxford, and Dean of Christ-Church in the same Place; and after his Death came, with many other curious MSS. to the Rev. Mr. HENRY JONES, Rector of Sunningwell near Abingdon in Berkshire, who at his Death left them to be deposited among BODLEY's Learned Treasures; from whence some of them * have been already publish'd.*

The Catalogues of the Archdeacons of Hereford and Shropshire, taken from Mr. Le NEVE's Fasti Ecclesiæ Anglicanæ, are more Improved. That Gentleman, it is to be hoped, will not be displeased, that

A List of the other Dignitaries, as Canons and Prebendaries, should have been added, if an unlucky Accident had not deprived us of that Benefit ; which, if hereafter recovered, that Defect shall be supplied.

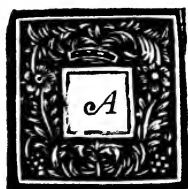

I shall say no more in relation to this Work ; but ask Pardon for the Typographical Errors, which are owing to the Editor's living at a great Distance from the Press.

Some ACCOUNT of the CITY of HEREFORD,
AND ITS CATHEDRAL.

RICONIUM, or Aricencheſter, and by an Apharaſis of Ar, call'd Kencheſter, was a conſiderable CITY in the Time of the Romans, of whoſe Antiquity are ſufficient

Testimonies : Stones of Muſive Work, Britiſh Bricks, and Coins of the CÆSARS, having there been frequently taken up. This Place, whoſe Ruins are now call'd Kencheſter-Walls, is ſaid to have periſh'd by an Earthquake, out of which, as WILLIAM OF MALMSBURY and LELAND informs us, was erected Part of this our City of Hereford, ſtanding three Miles Eaſtward, in a low Situation, among pleaſant Meadows and fruitful Corn Fields, encompaſs'd almoſt with Rivers, having the River Eyne Weſt North Weſt, and the Wye South, which has its Source in Wales. It is conjectur'd to have firſt ſprung up in the Saxon Heptarchy, and to have begun to flouriſh in the Time of EDWARD the Elder : For the

ii Some Account of the City of Britains, before the Name of Hereford was known, call'd it Trefawith, from Beech Trees which grew there in great Plenty. This Place was call'd sometimes by the Saxons Fernlez, from Fern growing on the Hills there, as likewise Hereford, which implies a Ford for an Army, suiting well the Situation of the Place; the Severn for many hundred Years being the Frontier between two Nations frequently at War.

In the Time of the Norman Survey *, this was a Place of no great Note, having but 103 Men within and without the Walls. WILLIAM of Malmesbury informs us, that in his Days it was not large; yet the high and formidable Ruins of its steep and broken Bulwarks demonstrated it formerly to have been a far greater Place. This City suffer'd in her State little till the Year 1055. when ALGAR (Son of Earl LEOFRICK) Earl of Chester, for some Misdemeanour being banish'd, retir'd to Ireland, and there procuring eighteen Ships, he in conjunction with GRIFFIN Prince of Wales, invaded Herefordshire, against whom was sent RALPH Earl of Hereford, King EDWARD's Sister's Son, who meeting ALGAR's Forces within two Miles of this Place, was defeated, with the Loss of five hundred of his Forces slain, and many wounded. These Rebels, encourag'd by this their Success, entering this City, march'd to the Cathedral, and there slew seven Canons that defended the great Doors of it, which they first plunder'd, and then set it on fire, which in a small time consum'd that Fabrick with the whole City to Ashes. The News of which being brought to King EDWARD, then at Gloucester, he forthwith raised an Army, and appointed HAROLD, Earl of the West Saxons, General thereof, who advancing immediately against them, and pitching his Tents at Snaudune in North-Wales, so terrified Prince GRIFFIN and ALGAR, that they soon betook themselves to flight. Whereupon HAROLD march'd to Hereford, and fortified it with a deep and large Rampire, and strong Gates; soon after which, Peace was concluded between those great Persons.

And then Part of this City, as I suppose, was rebuilt out of Part of Kenchester; for the Ingenious Antiquary, Mr. Leland, * informs us, that they pull'd down and carried away some of those Ruins for their own Buildings; and farther says, that the Town was antient, large, and strongly wall'd, and in Compass within the Walls, a Mile: That there were in the Town four Parish Churches, viz. St. PETER'S, St. NICHOLAS, ALL-HALLOWS, and St. JOHN'S, some of which were fair, and the last of them a Part of the Cathedral.

I do not find that this City was disturb'd till the Time of the late Civil Wars, when being noted for its Loyalty, it endur'd a Siege; but was betray'd, by the Treachery of some Persons of Republican Principles, to the Parliament Army. This City bore for their Arms Gules three Lions Passant Guardant Or; but in respect of its Loyalty, was rewarded by King CHARLES Ist, in the 21st Year

* Leland's Itinerary, Vol. V. p. 55.

iv Some Account of the CITY of

of his Reign, by granting them an Augmentation of Arms by Patent under the Hand and Seal of Sir EDWARD WALKER, Kt. Garter Principal King of Arms, dated the 16th Day of September, 1645. the Blazon of which Arms, &c. here follows, viz. Gules three Lions passant guardant of the 2d within a Bordure, Azure entoire de ten Saltires Argent; supported by two Lions Argent, each collared Azure, and on each Collar three Buckles Or; Crest a Lion Passant Guardant Argent, holding in his Right Paw a Sword erected proper hilted and pomell'd Or; on an Escroll this Motto, INVICTÆ FIDELITATIS PRÆMIUM.

This City was likewise remarkable for its Castle, which is now entirely demolish'd, tho' in Leland's Time some part of it was standing, who informs us, "it stood on the Side of Wye River, not far " from the Cathedral, and was of as great " Circuit as Windsor. The Dungeon of the " Castle high and strong, having in the utter Wall
" or Ward ten Towers, formâ semicirculari, and " one great Tower in the inner Ward, each of " which Wards were environed with Water: That " there was a Bridge of Stone Arches, and a Draw" bridge in the Middle of it to enter into the
" Castle then clean down." Some say King EDWARD built this Castle in the 9th Year of his Reign, others attribute it to Earl HAROLD, and some Authors to the LACYS and BOHUNS, Earls of Hereford.

I shall now proceed to give an Account of the most worthy Matter of Note in this City, which is its CATHEDRAL; only first take Notice, that this City, according to Geographers, is in the Longitude of 20 Degrees 24 Minutes, Latitude 52
Degrees

HEREFORD, and its Cathedral. v

Degrees 6 Minutes ; and is situate about 100 Miles West North West from London.

ETHELBERT (Son of ETHELRED, and of LEOFRUN his Wife) succeeded his Father in the Kingdom of the East-Angles, a Prince of great Hopes in his Youth, delighting in the Studies of good Literature, and in his Advancement to the Throne, ruling his Subjects with singular Prudence, Equity, and Moderation ; never permitting the Orphan to be oppress'd, nor Blood to be shed in doubtful things ; inclining rather to dismiss than condemn, and in other Cases ready to mitigate the Punishment of Criminals convicted, if (in the least) worthy of Favour. He was always exceedingly pleas'd, when any one was recommended to him for his Probity, that he could reward by Preferment the Just. These and other Virtues daily shining in this Illustrious Prince, made his People desirous of his having a Progeny, that might inherit their Ancestor's Vertues. Whereupon ALTRHIDA, Daughter of OFFA, King of the Mercians, and of QUENREDA his Consort, was propos'd as a Lady worthy of his Favour ; which Proposition he seem'd to approve, and departing as soon as Conveniency would permit, with a gallant Retinue to the Mercian Court at South-town (now call'd Sutton-Walls) was there at first entertain'd with great Respect ; But QUENREDA envying the Pomp and splendid Equipage of this Princely Woer, incens'd the King, that ETHELBERT was rather brought thither by Ambition than Love, not intending to marry their Daughter, but to seduce his People ; that his Guard represented the Forces of an Enemy more than the Retinue of a Guest : And added, if Affection was the Occasion of his Arrival

vi Some Account of the CITY of

Arrival there, which she mistrusted ; after he was join'd to ALTHRIDA in Matrimony, he would not be wanting to make himself acceptable to their People, and by that means deprive him of his Kingdom. Wherefore she thought it expedient to prevent any such thing, advising the King to procure some body that should murder him. Whereupon a Council was call'd, and a great Reward offer'd to that Person who would execute the Fact, which was GUYMEERT, a Domestick of King ETHELBERT'S Father, and highly esteem'd by him ; who having received his Reward, not abhorring the Villany, immediately took some Accomplices with him, went to this Prince's Apartment, telling him that OFFA expected him in private ; wherefore he made himself ready to visit that Prince, but was murdered before he came to him ; this JUDAS, by the Assistance of his Villains, having cut off his Head, which he afterwards presented to the Mercian King, who immediately ordered his Body and Head to be privately interr'd, the better to conceal this wicked Deed. In pursuance of whose Commands they were convey'd to Marden on the Banks of the River Lugg, about four Miles distant from this City, and there interred. But OFFA being conscious, that he had acted contrary to the Laws of God and Nature, repented of this inhuman Action, ordering BRITHFRIDUS, a Mercian Nobleman, to remove the Corps and Head, and interr them near the Monastery of Hereford ; which good Office he willingly performed with the Assistance of EGMUNDUS, a good and virtuous Man, where were said after his Sepulture to have been performed many Miracles, of which MILFRID, a Viceroy of Mercia, in Parts distant from this City, hearing,

hearing, sent great Sums of Money hither, and caused to be built, in Memory of this martyr'd Prince, over his Corps, a stately and elegant Church, and appointed it an Episcopal See ; and endowing it with great Revenues, gave to it many rich Ornaments. I find that in the Time of Bishop ROBERT LOZING, who was consecrated to this See in the Year 1079. it was begun to be rebuilt, and the Work carry'd on by that Virtuous Prelate RAINELM, his Successor, and other worthy Bishops of this See making great Additions to it ; but in what Part I cannot say.

GILES DE BRUCE seems to have erected the Tower at the West End, being represented in this Cathedral holding the Model of a Tower in his Hand, not unlike the abovesaid Tower ; after whose Time I can give no Account of it till the late unhappy Civil Wars, when I find in the Year 1645. that it was profaned by the Scots Army, some of the Effigies of the Bishops defac'd, and near a hundred Grave-stones depriv'd of their Brasses by the sacrilegious Hands of those Rebels ; yet I cannot say but it escaped better than many others. The Library was plunder'd, and several valuable Manuscripts taken away, but preserv'd by SILAS TAYLOR, a Captain of the Parliament Army, and a great Lover of Antiquities. The Revenues of the Church were dispos'd of to sundry Persons for 8850 l. 9 s. 3 d. $\frac{1}{2}$.

To this Church several Persons were considerable Benefactors ; for so large were their Revenues at the Norman Survey, that I find in Doomsday-Book (a Copy of which, as far as relates to this Church, I shall hereafter set forth in this Work) they they enjoy'd 300 * Hides of Lands. Earl HAROLD depriv'd this Church unjustly of several of its Manors, which WILLIAM the Conqueror restored to them again. RALF DE MAYDENSTAN, Bishop of this See, gave to this Church all his Lands in Hamme †, being of the Yearly Value of 15 l. which he bought of SIMON DE CLIFFORD, Kt. to hold by the Service of one Knight's Fee and a half, to have his Obit yearly celebrated in this Cathedral PETER DE AQUABLANCA, among other considerable Benefactions, gave to this Church the Manor of Hamme Lacy ‖, which he acquired of the Prior and Convent of Crassewell, for 500 Marks, for the Support of those who yearly celebrated the Obit of WALTER DE LACY, a Monk, in the Abby of St. PETER, Gloucester, who gave this Manor to them. CECILIA DE EBIOCIS or DEVEREUX gave to this Church, for eight Marks, by Fine levied in the 9th Year of King JOHN, the Advowson of Putteleg ‖‖ Church, in which they were to perform Divine Service every Day.

Could dull Words speak what buried here doth lie,
'Twould raise both Envy and Idolatry.
'Twas an Exchequer, throng'd with so much Good,
The Age that lost it, never understood.
Just Heaven finding 'twas but envied here,
Left us the Casket, fix'd the Jewel there.

I find in Bishop GODWIN, that Cuthbert, once Bishop of this See, bestowed a handsome Monument upon his Predecessors, with this Epitaph on it; though where it is now, I cannot tell.

Qui quondam extiterant famosi atq; per orbem,
 Corpora fena tenet hominum hic marmor obumbrans,
 Tumbaque mirifico præsens frabricata decore,
 De super ex alto cohibet cum culmine tecta.

South-Eastward of this Church, is a Pile of Building, in the Form of a Quadrangle, appropriated to the Use of a CUSTOS, and 12 Vicars Choral ; by whom founded I cannot find, nor to whom dedicated, if not to the Honour of St. John Baptist, which seems to be so insinuated by an Image that stood lately over the Entrance, but now removed to make a Light to one of the Vicar's Lodgings. This Place seems to have been Coæval with the Church, and was not improbably founded at the same Time. In the Cloisters is a small Chappel, made Use of for a Monthly Sermon, and over it is a Library, and Archives for their Papers and Accompts. In this Library, in the Windows, are several mangled Inscriptions and Images ; what I could make any Thing of, is as follows :

In the uppermost Light on the Left Hand, is the Figure of the Virgin Mary bearing CHRIST in her Arms, with the Letters M, A, and R, frequent in the Glafs. Underneath is a Person kneeling before a Desk, holding a Book before him ; the other Part of the Window is adorn'd with Variety of Flowers. Under all is this Inscription :

Orate pro aia Johis Kinge London
 hanc fenestram fecit.

In

In the second Light on the same Side, are only several Flowers.

In the third Light, is visible the following Writing,

Orate pro aia Johis Kinge Mercatoris
London, qui hanc fenestram vitriari fecit.

In the two next Lights, are the same Inscriptions, very much broken and defaced.

On the right Hand, in the first Light, are the Figures of several Catherine-Wheels.

In the second seems to be the Head, Face, and Breast of one of the Apostles, with a Glory round the Head. In other Panes of the Window, are several Catherine-Wheels and Flowers, and underneath them is this mangled Inscription:

. Servientis ad Legem et Janē
Ar. vitriari fecit.

In the two next Lights, are the same mangled Inscriptions and Flowers, as are in the others.

At the upper End of this Library, is a Velum Book, containing the Names of the several Benefactions and Benefactors to this Place, as follow:

On an antient Brass taken from a Tombstone in the Cathedral Church, and afterwards preserv'd in this City Tolsay, concerning one who freed the City from some Toll, which has been since fixed on a Free-stone near the West side of the Bishop's Cloisters, in the Area, under the Figures of a Man and Woman, is this Inscription :

Good Christeyn People of your Charite
That here abide in this transitorie Lyfe,
For the Soules of Richarz Phillips praye ye,
And also of Anne his dere beloved Wyfe,
Which here togeder contynued without Strype,
In this woꝛshipful Citie called Herefoꝛd by name ;
He being seven tymes Mayor and Ruler of the same.
Further to declare of his Poꝛt and Fame,
His Pitie and Compassion of them that were in woe,
To do Woꝛks of Charitie his Hands were nothing lame ;
Throughe him all people here may freelye come and goe,
Wythout payeng of Custam, Toll, oꝛ other moe.
The which things to redeme he left both House and land
For that intent perpetually to remain and stand.
Anne also that Godlye Woman hath put to her Hand,
Appꝛobing her Husbonds Acte, and enlargynge the same ;
Whiche benefite considered, all this Contrey ys band
Antirely to pray for them, oꝛ ellis it were to blame.

Elizabeth the Wife of Herbert Croft, Gent.
died, and was here
buried the second Day of September,
An. Dni. 1687.

In the North-East Ifle, on an ordinary Stone, is this Infcription :

Anna Sophia Rodd (Widdow to Robert Rodd of Foxley Esq; deceased) died the 11th Day of March, Anno Dom. 1691.

Under the East Window of the North
Cross-Isle, is a low Free-stone Altar Monument, inlaid at the Top with a white Cross, but no Infcription. Under it, on a large black Marble, are these Arms engraved : In a Lozenge quarterly per Fess, indented in dexter chief, a Lion passant guardant, and under them this Infcription :

Here

Here lieth the Body of Mrs.
Bridget Croft, Daughter of Sir
Herbert Croft of Croft Castle, in this County, who died upon the 21st Day of December, in the
86. Year of her Age, and of our Lord 1694.

On the North Side of the High Altar is a Chappel, said to have been built by Bishop Stanbury; on the South Side of which, under an Arch, upon an Altar Monument, lies the Effigies of a Priest in his Habit, with his Crois in his Hand. Over this Monument are some Emblems on Shields, as, the Crofs and five Loaves and three Fishes on a Shield. On another a Knife, and round it, Bartholomeus. On another a Lancett-Lance, and upon it a Label, whereon is this, Thomas. On another a Saw, thereon a Label, Matthias.

This Place is 16 Foot long, and 8 Foot broad.

In this Chappel, on the Walls, are several other Emblems carved, and these Arms following, viz.

I. Within a Bordure two Chevrons engrail'd between two Mullets.

II. Bendy of 6 in chief, 3 Leopards Faces jessant Fleur de Lis.

III. Five Cheveronells.

Heu ! dilecte Puer, Lachesis tua vita fefellit, Quæ mores spectans, credidit esse senem.

On an ordinary Stone, under the West Wall, is the Effigies of a Man in Armour cross-legged, his Shield on his Left Arm, and his Right set to his Side, under his Feet a Dog.

On another Grave-stone near the former, are these Arms, viz. a Castle, impal. 3 Eagles display'd, and this Inscription :

Here

Here lieth the Body of William Castell, of Reding
in the County of Berks, Gent. who departed this Life the 14 of July, 1698.
aged 48 Years.

On a small black Marble inlaid in White,
is this Inscription :

Here lieth the Body of Meredith James, Son of Meredith James, of the Town of Brecon, Gent. who departed this Life
the 2d of Febr.
A^o. Dni. MDCCXI.
Ætatis suæ XV.

This Youth in Life was lovely, full of Grace,
And did in nought but Vertue grow apace :
His early Parts began to shine most bright,
But soon, alas! this Day was turn'd to Night.
What though he chanc'd by Violence to fall,
Yet that was still his Great Creator's Call,
That from the Joys of Earth he should remove
To Joys immortal with himself above.

At the Foot of the last, on a black Marble, are these Arms, viz. On a Chief three Roun- dells, the Flames issuing from them. On an

the following Inscription :

Here lieth the Body of Thomas Boycott, of Hinton-Hall in
the County of Salop, Esq;
who died the 20th of February,
1698.

On a small black Marble are these Arms,
viz. Ermine a Bend Lozenge, impal. Barry of 6, on a Bend three Roses, and underneath
this Inscription :

Here lyeth the Body of John Pye, Gent. the 7th Son and Survivor of all Judge Pye's Children, who departed this Life the 25th of Feb. in the Year of his Age 82, and of our Lord 1701.

Here also lieth Blanche, the Wife of John Pye, Gent.
who departed this Life the 12 of January, in the Year of her Age 91, and of our Lord, 1708.

Against the middle West Pillar of this Isle,
on a small black Marble, is this Inscription :

Here

Here lyeth the Body of Anne,
the Daughter of Thomas Boycott, Esq: and of Elizabeth his Wife. She died May 14.
1697.

Also of William, the Son of Thomas Boycott and Elizabeth his Wife. He died Jan. 18. 1698.

On the North Side of the last, and close to it on a black Marble, are these Arms: In a Lozenge, viz. on two Bars 6 Muscles, on a Canton a Lion's Face; and this Inscription:

Here lieth the Body of Margaret Geers, youngest Daughter of Thomas Geers, Serjeant at Law, by Elizabeth
his Wife, who died the 29.
of September, 1702.
Aged 16 Years.

Under the North Window of this Isle lies, on an antient Altar Monument, the Portraiture of a Bishop in his Pontificalibus, under a Nich of the said Window, environed with Iron Ballisters; over which is a fine Arch painted and embelished with Gold;
but there are no Arms or Inscription thereon.

126 The ANTIQUITIES of the

Close to it is another Altar Monument, railed in, of Free-stone, supported by three Sphinxes, on which lies the Effigies of a Bishop in his Sacerdotal Vestments, reposing his Head on his Hand. Upon two Pillars of the Dorick Order, over him, below the blue Tablet bearing his Inscription, are the following Arms, viz.

I. Or, five Cheveronells azure; being the Arms of the Deanery.

II. Azure a Cross between 4 Heads of Arrows Or; being the Arms of Westphaling.

III. Gules three Lions Faces reversed, each jessant a Fleur de Lis Or; being the Arms of the See.

IV. Gules three Crowns Or; being the antient Arms of the See.

V. Azure a Cross between 4 Heads of Arrows Argent impaling Gules 3 Leopards Faces reversed, each jessant a Fleur de Lis Or.

On the Top of the Monument are these Arms of Westphaling, viz. Azure a Cross between 4 Heads of Arrows Or, impaling Argent on a Chevron engrailed between 3 cross Croflets, fitch Sable 2 Lions counterjailant of the Field. Underneath was the following Inscription almost worn out by the Injury of Time and Weather, but happily recovered by the Care of Will. Brome, of Ewithington in this County, Esq; to whom we are obliged for many things in this Work, and from whom the World has long hoped for an

On another Stone was this Inscription, engraved by Dr. Kerry, for one of his Sons,
but now quite worn out :

His Faith and Sicknesse long together strave,
That Christ might have his Soul, his Corps the Grave,
Death ends the Strife, both Conquerors appear ;
Christ hath his Soule, his Body lieth here.

On a small black Marble are these Arms,
*viz. Two Bends on a Canton, a Bend. impal.
3 Eagles displ. a Fess vary Ermine in chief three Crescent, Crest, a Phoenix issuing out of a Fire, and this Inscription :*

At the Foot of the last, on the South Side,
on an handsom black Marble Grave-stone, is this Inscription: (for Robert Symmonds of Sugwas, Esq; and Jane his Wife; he was High-Sheriff of Herefordshire, A^o. 1701.)

Here lieth the Body of Jane,
the Wife of Robert Symonds, Gent. and Daughter of Thomas Willis, Doctor of Physick. She departed this Life the 2d of February, 1692.

Here also lieth the Body of Robert Symonds, Gent. (Son of Mr. Robert Symonds, Mercer, of this City)
who departed this Life the
4. Maii, A. D. 1711.

On a large black Marble, near the West Door of this Isle, is this Inscription :

Here lyeth the Body of Griffith Reignolds, Batchelor of Laws,
who departed this Life
the 15 Day of December, Anno Domini 1696.

On an antient Stone, near the former, were the Figures of a Man and Woman in Brass, and at their Feet a Tablet; over their Heads were Brass Scrolls, and on that remaining over the Woman's Head thus :

Have Mercy.

On an antient Stone is the Effigies of a Man in Armour, standing on a Lion, and on his Right Arm a Shield, without any Inscription.

On an antient Stone, at the Foot of the last, under a Brass Canopy, was the Figure of a Priest, whereof nothing now remains but his Head, over which is this Inscription on a Brass Scroll :

Deprecare Regem celi pro me, Virgo Katerina ; Adjuvare queso veni, & salvere festina.

Cathedral Church of HEREFORD. 131

At the Foot of the last, on the North Side, is the Portraiture of a Priest in Brass; but the Tablet of Inscription stolln away.

On another antient black Marble was the Figure of a Person, and over his Head an Inscription, now purloined, and on his Right Side these Arms on a Brass Shield, Barry of 6 a Chief Gobonee, over all a Bendlet.

In the South Cross-Isle was the Figure of a Person in Brass under a Canopy, round the Verge whereof is this remaining. This is judg'd to belong to Reginald West, Dean of this Church, who Ann. 1512. was succeeded in this Deanery by the famous Cardinal Wolsey.

In the South Isle, on the South Side of the high Altar, is an handsome Free-stone, Altar Monument, whereon lyes the Effigies of a Bishop on a Pillow in his Pontificalibus, and curiously arched at top with Fret-work. On each Side of this Monument are eight Effigies under as many Arches, all enclosed with Iron Rails on the South Side, upon which were four several Shields of Arms, three of which now remain, and are as follows :

- I. On a Fess between 3 Roses Gules a Fleur de Lis.
- II. St. Ethelbert's Arms.
- III. The Arms of the See.

Near the Choir Door, in the South Isle, is against the Wall a red veined marble Monument, supported by two Pillars. Under an Arch was the Effigies of a Man praying at a Desk ; under him was a Tablet, now torn off, with the Coats of Arms belonging to to Thompson, L. L. D. who by Will gave various Charities to the Poor.

In the middle South Isle, on a Grave-stone under a brass Canopy, was the Figure of a Person; round the Verge remains this Fragment of an Inscription, (which perhaps might relate to John Harvey, who died possessed of this Deanery, as appears by the Probate of his Will, May 20. 1501.)

In a Book intituled, Liber Taxationum omnium Beneficiorum in Anglia, now in the Bodleian Repository at Oxford, and formerly belonging to Sir Henry Spelman, among others is this Taxation of the Diocess of Hereford, taken in the 19th Year of King Edward the First, by a Commission of that King directed to the then Prelates of Winchester and Lincoln. This Book is indeed imperfect, but truly valuable and useful, and may be expected from the Accuracy and Industry of Thomas Hearne, M. A. of Edmund-Hall in the University of Oxford, who has much obliged the Publick, by his faithful Editions of some of the Works of our most celebrated Antiquaries and Historians : I shall not therefore usurp his Province, by saying any thing further of this valuable M.S. which we need not doubt, but he will illustrate by his own skilful and happy Conjectures.

BISHOPS

O F

HEREFORD.

I. PUTTA VI. Bishop of Roche- Godwin of Bishops, ster, a Person unexpert in P. 477.
 Worldly Affairs, and no great Scholar, waxing weary of that his See, and Etheldred, King of the Mercians destroying the whole County of Kent with Fire and Sword, oc-

Afterwards being suffer'd to return, and receiv'd into the King's Favour, he travelled homeward, and died in the Way at Gloucester, on the 17th Day of November, 1215. whence his Body was convey'd to this Church, and was interr'd, as is said, within the Iron Rails on the South Side of Bishop Stanbery's Monument, where lies, carv'd on a Free Stone, the Effigies of a Bishop in a Sacerdotal Habit, on his Head a Mitre, and in his Left Hand the Model of a Tower, not unlike that at the West End of this Cathedral; from which many Persons conclude, that he built that Tower: Which Supposition I cannot altogether confide in, therefore must leave it dubious, till I am convinc'd by a more sufficient Proof.

Many Miracles were said to have been wrought at his Place of Burial, in regard whereof, the Pope made him a Saint, and all the Bishops of Hereford, since his Time, in honour of him, have bore his Arms as the Coat of their See, viz. Gules three Leopards Faces reversed, each jessant a Flower de Lis Or. Whereas before they bore as the Arms of their See those of the Kings of the East Angles, which were Azure three Crowns Or.

have been erected for some other Prelate, tho' the careless Painter has painted this Inscription under the said Arch :

Hic requiescit Ricardus, dictus de Swinefeld, Cantuariensis Dioecesis, quondam Episcopus Herefordensis.

Which, if I am not mistaken, should have been painted over the abovesaid Monument, which I here take notice of, that Persons of a more curious Thought may judge better than I here have done. The principal Reason which induces me to believe this to be an Error of the Painter's, (or rather of the Persons who directed him to paint those Inscriptions) is, that I find a Person of the same Name buried under a Free Stone close to the abovesaid Altar-Monument, who in all probability might be related to this Prelate, and be willing to be buried near him, as Dean Equeblank order'd in his Will his Body to be interr'd near Bishop Equeblank his Uncle.

In the Year 1327. he was sent Embassador to Rome, where hearing of the Death of Thomas Cobham, Bishop of Worcester, he obtain'd the Pope's Bull, dated 25 September, 1327. for that See, altho' Wolstan de Bransford, a Prior, had been before duly elected in England, and confirm'd by the King the 8th of September in the same Year, 1327. The Pope's Preferment setting aside that of the King's, he sat at Worcester six Years, after which by the same Interest he was translated to the See of Winchester, on the 1st of December, 1333. The King, in the Month of April, 1334. laid an Accusation in the Ecclesiastical Court against him, consisting of these three Articles, viz.

1. That he had unjustly imprison'd Robert Baldock, the King's Chancellor, in November, 1326.
2. That in a Sermon preach'd at Oxford on this Text, viz. My Head grieveth me; proving from thence, that an evil Head, not otherwise to be cured, ought to be cut off: Declaring also the King to be a Tyrant, and inciting his Subjects thereby to depose depose and imprison him, viz.

Edw. 2.

3. That Queen Isabell, by his Advice, had withdrawn herself from this King, her Consort, viz. Edw. the 2d.

He had, before this Accusation, another, in the Time of King Edw. 2. by that King's Parliament exhibited against him in the Year 1324. for having aided the Mortimers against that King with Men and Arms; but when he should have been arraigned, the Archbishops of Canterbury, York, and Dublin, with their Suffragan Bishops, came to the Bar, and violently took him away. The King seiz'd his Temporalities, which he held in his Hands, till that King by this Bishop's Machinations was depos'd, against whom he was an inveterate Enemy, and chief Counsellor and firm Adherer to Isabell, that King's Queen. He wrote a Letter to the Lord Matravers, and Thomas Gurney, the said King Edward II's Keepers, blaming them for giving him too much Liberty (he being then a Prisoner in Berkley Castle) and for not performing the Service which was expected from them, and finish'd his Epistle with this Line:

Edwardum occidere nolite timere, bonum est.

Notwithstanding this, in the Reign of King Edward III. he appear'd very vigorous against the Murtherers of that King's Father; and when any of his Letters were shown him, proving him to be privy to that Fact, he would deny it, and evade them by some Excuse. Whether he was guilty or not, by the abovesaid Ænigma cannot be determin'd; yet within less than twelve Months, viz. in November, 1327. he was preferr'd to Worcester, and from thence translated to the See of Winchester. He died the 18th of July, 1345. at Farnham, being a long time before his Death blind; but where he was buried, I have not seen. He was a Benefactor to this Church of Hereford, giving to the Fabrick thereof the Parsonage of Finchingfield in Berkshire. He was succeeded in the Bishoprick of Hereford by

47. THOMAS CHORLTON, Doctor of Law, and Canon of Tork, Keeper of the King's Privy Seal, in the Year 1316. He was consecrated Prelate of

of this Bishoprick by the Pope's Command, 18 Octob. 1327. He was made Treasurer of England in the Year 1329. and in the Year 1337. went with his Brother, Sir John Charlton, Knt. then Chief Justice of Ireland, into that Kingdom, in the Capacity of Lord Chancellor. In the succeeding Year his Brother was displac'd, and he constituted in lieu of him, and also made Custos and Guardian of that Realm. In the Year 1340. he was call'd home, but for what Reason I know not. He died the 11th of January, A. 1343. after he had govern'd this See 16 Years, and lies entombed under the North Window of the North Cross-Isle, where is represented, under an Arch curiously painted and embellish'd with Gold, the Statue of a Bishop lying on an Altar-Monument, in a Sacerdotal Habit, on his Head a Mitre. This Monument is environ'd with Iron Rails, and is close to Bishop Westfaling's.

53. ROBERT MASCAL was his Successor. When young, he became a Friar Carmelite at Ludlow; but afterwards went to Oxford, where he became so well qualified in Learning and Virtues, that King Hen. IV.
made choice of him for his Confessor,
and prefer'd him to this Bishoprick.
He was often employ'd by that Prince upon Embassies to foreign Powers, and in the Year 1415. he was sent with two other Bishops to Constance, to the Council there. He built the Choir, Presbytery, and Steeple of the

In the Year 1504. he was translated to the See of Wells, in which he continued twelve Years; but conspiring with others against the Pope, he was depriv'd of his Preferments. Thus being disgrac'd, he soon after retired from Court. As I have not found, so I cannot give any Account of his later later Days, and therefore shall conclude, and only remark, that he was born of mean Parentage at Corneto, a poor Fisher Town in Hetruria. He was succeeded in this See by

63. RICHARD MAYO, born at Hungerford in Berkshire, and educated in Grammar Learning in Wykeham's School near Winchester. He was admitted Fellow of New College in the Year 1459. soon after which he was elected one of the Proctors of the University, and in the Year 1480. he was made President of Magdalen College, by the Founder thereof, William Waynfleet, and about that Time Doctor of Divinity. In the Beginning of May, 1501. he was made Archdeacon of Oxford, and was sent into Spain to conduct the Infanta Katherine to England, to be wedded to Prince Arthur. In the Year 1503. he was elected Chancellor of that University, and the Year after being of the King's Council, and his Almoner, was promoted to this See, and had Restitution made to him of the Temporalities belonging thereunto, on the 1st of November, 1504. 63. CHARLES BOOTH of Cambridge, Doctor of Divinity, succeeded: He was Archdeacon of Bucks, and Chancellor of the Marches of Wales. He had the Temporalities of this See put into his Hands the 9th Day of February, 1516. and was consecrated the 30th of November following. He sate here 18 Years and five Months. By his last Will, proved the 8th of May, 1535. he desired to be buried in this Cathedral near the Door, on the North Side of the Church, where in his Life-time he had erected his own Monument; and according to his Will, he lies buried in the North Isle near the Door, where on an Altar-Monument under an Arch, formerly curiously painted and embellish'd with Gold, lies the Statue of a Bishop in a Sacerdotal Habit, on his Head a Mitre.

On one of the Pillars which supports the abovesaid Arch, are these Arms painted, viz.

He was a Learned Man, as his Works evidence, and by Leland is so accounted in his Book de Scriptoribus. By his last Will and Testament made the 8th Day of May, 1538. it appears he bequeathed his Body to be buried in the Church of St. Mary Hault (or de Monte Alto) London, the Patronage of which belongs to this See. The said Church of St. Mary stood on the West Side, about the Middle of Old Fish-street in Queenhithe Ward, and was very small; which suffering the like Fate with others in the dreadful Fire, is since annexed to that of St. Mary Somerset. shew'd himself severe against the Protestants. After Queen Elizabeth's Accession to the Crown, he was depriv'd of his Bishoprick for refusing the Oath of Supremacy, viz. on the 30th of May, 1559. and afterwards being again committed to the Marshalsea Prison, he there continued in a cheerful and contented State till his Death, which happened on the 5th of September, 1569. He was meanly buried near other Prisoners in the Cemetery belonging to St. George's Church, Southwark, at Midnight. He was a most Learned, Ingenious, and Eloquent Writer, as the many Books he wrote sufficiently evidence. He was succeeded in this See by ed Bishop of this See, he was consecrated the 26th of May, 1553. but in few Months after was depriv'd by Queen Mary for his wilful avoiding the Hearing of Mass, and being married. The Ingenious Antiquary, Mr.

Leland, who was acquainted with him, highly praises his Vertue and Learning. This disgrac'd Prelate ab-scinded for some Time after his Deprivation; but at length wandering from Place to Place in England, to console the poor Protestants, and confirm them in their Faith, breathed his last, in a Place unknown to my Author. He was succeeded by

68. ROBERT PURFEY, alias WARBINGTON, and WARTON, formerly Abbot of the late Exempt Monastery of St. Saviour of Bermondsey, educated in the University of Cambridge (of which he was Batchelor of Divinity.) He was consecrated Bishop of St. Asaph at Lambeth the 2d of July, 1536. which See he held in Commendum with his Abbathship. He dwelt much at Denbigh, and sometimes at Wrexham. He kept a great House and Retinue, which occasion'd him to set out in long Leases all the Lands belonging to that See, to the great Impoverishment of the same, which he govern'd 18 Years. He was translated A. 1554. to this See, and died in the Year 1557. and was buried in this Cathedral. After his Decease, Thomas Raynolds, Doctor of Divinity, Dean of Exeter, and Warden of Merton College, was design'd to succeed him by Queen Mary; but she making her last Exit before his Consecration, prevented his Preferment: And which he was consecrated the 30th of August, 1531. to that of Chichester, and was displac'd by Queen Mary; but he was in the Year 1559. preferr'd by Queen Elizabeth to this See. He ended his Days at Whitborne in the County of Hereford, the 26th Day of June, 1585. and in all likelihood was there buried. He was succeeded by

70. HERBERT WESTPHALING, Son of Herbert Westphaling, Son of Herbert, a Native of Westphalia in Germany. This Bishop is said to have changed his Name from Herbert to Westfaling, when he fled into Germany to avoid the Marian Persecution; tho' others tell us, that the Name was changed by the Bishop's Father, who also changed the Arms of his Family in memory of a great Victory, or some signal Service, which he did in the Circle of Westphalia, by throwing Galthropes into a River, to hinder the Passage of the Enemies Horse. In the Year 1547. at fifteen Years of Age, he was made Student of Christ-Church, and in the Year 1555. Master of Arts. In March, 1562. he was install'd Canon of the said Church, being at that Time Rector of Brightwell near Watlington in the County of Oxford. In the Year 1577. he was installed Canon of Windsor, and on the 12th of December, 1585. consecrated Bishop of Hereford, in which County he had a good Estate. He was a Learned Divine, a Person of great Gravity and Integrity, and most worthy of his Function. He deceased the 1st Day of March, 1601.

71. ROBERT BENNET, Doctor of Divinity, succeeded. He was Dean of Windsor, and sometime Fellow of Trinity College in Cambridge. He was consecrated the 10th of February, 1602. by the Appointment of Queen Elizabeth, but did his Homage to King James. He died the 25th of October, 1617. By his last Will, dated the 3d of March, the 14th of James the First, he bequeathed his Body to be buried in the Cathedral Church of Hereford, and a Sum of Money for erecting a Tomb of white Alabaster in memory of him, encompassed about with Iron Rails. He is entombed on the North Side of the high Altar, under an handsome Alabaster Monument. His Effigies lies on a Tomb representing a Person in a Sacerdotal Habit, at his Feet a Lion. Over him is an

72. FRANCIS GODWIN, Doctor of ^{Godwin of Bishops} Divinity, succeeded. He was Sub-^{P. 534.} dean of Exeter, and Son of Thomas ^{Wood's Athen. Oxon. Vol. 1.} Godwin, sometime Bishop of Bath ^{p. 496.} and Wells. He was born at Havington in Northamptonshire, in the fourth Year of the Reign of Queen Elizabeth. In the Year 1578. he was admitted a Student in Christ-Church in Oxford, where he took the Degrees in Arts and Holy Orders, and became Rector of Samford Orcais in Somersetshire, Prebendary of St. Decuman in the Church of Wells, Residentiary there, and Vicar of Weston in Zoyland, in the same County, which last he resigning, became Vicar of Bishops Lidiard in 1595. being then Subdean of Exeter, and about that time Doctor of Divinity. In the Year 1601. he was nominated to the See of Landaff by Queen Elizabeth, zabeth, and was consecrated the 22d of November the same Year, and sat there about 16 Years, which being but small, he had Liberty to keep one of his Dignities in Commendum with it, and to take upon him the Rectory of Kingston Seymour in the Diocese of Wells. Afterwards, in respect of his great Learning, he was translated to this Bishoprick the 10th Day of November, 1617. and confirm'd therein the 28th of the same Month. He died in April, 1633. and was buried in the Chancel of his Church of Whitborne, which with the Manor belongs to the Bishops of this Cathedral, and is situate about fourteen Miles from this City. He was a good Man, a grave Divine, a skilful Mathematician, an excellent Latinist, a great Historian, and an incomparable Antiquary; whose indefatigable Industry, shew'd by several learned Pieces by him published, besides his History of the Succession of all the Bishops in England and Wales, since the first planting the Gospel among them; and that he was a fine Preacher, and strict Liver, and diligent in his Study, employing himself so much in Matters of Religion, that he was as it were a Stranger to the World,

World, and Things thereof, are Monuments that will render him worthy of the highest Esteem, and not to be forgotten in succeeding Ages. On his Decease, this Bishoprick was bestow'd on

73. AUGUSTINE LINDSELL, Master of Arts, and Fellow of Clare-Hall in Cambridge. He was born at Bumsted in Essex, and was educated Scholar and Fellow in the same Hall, where he became a great Student in Greek, Hebrew, and all Antiquity. In the Year 1628. he was preferr'd to the Deanery of Litchfield, and was elected Bishop of Peterborough the 22d of December, 1632. Thence he was translated to this See in December, 1633. and died at his Palace in Hereford the 6th Day of November, 1634. and was buried in his Cathedral there, in the South Isle beyond the Presbytery, where against the South Wall of the said Isle is erected a handsome Free Stone Altar-Monument in memory of him, supported by two Corinthian Pillars of Free Stone, and adorn'd with Books, under which is the Representation of a City. His Statue lies on a Tomb, in a Sacerdotal Habit.

174. MATTHEW WRENN, Doctor of Divinity, succeeded. He was Son of Francis Wrenn, Citizen of London, descended from the Wrenns of Binchester in the Bishoprick of Durham, and born in St. Peter's-Cheap, in London. He first became a Student in Pembroke-Hall in Cambridge, then Greek Scholar, and Fellow of that House. He was afterwards made Vice-Chancellor of the said University, and Chaplain to King Charles the First, Prebendary of Winchester, and was installed Dean of Windfor the 24th Day of July, 1628, and in the Year 1633. he was made Clerk of the Closet, soon after which he had the Temporalities of this See given him by King Charles the First, in the 10th Year of his Reign, on the 24th Day of March, 1634. He presided here but a small Time; for on the 10th of November, 1635. he was translated to the Bishoprick of Norwich, and in the Year 1638. to that of Ely, the Temporalities of which were restored to him on the 5th of May, 1638. He gave way to Fate at Ely-House in London, the 24th of April, 1667. aged 81 Years, and was interr'd in Cambridge with great Solemnity, his Body being ing deposited in a Stone Coffin, and laid in a Vault there under the Altar.

He was succeeded in this See by

75. THEOPHILUS FIELD of Pembroke-Hall in Cambridge, born in the Parish of St. Giles, Cripplegate, London, and translated from the See of Landaff to that of St. Davids, in the Year 1635. from St. Davids to this, and accordingly had the Temporalities restored him on the 23d Day of January, in the same Year. He died the 2d of June, 1636. and was buried under the upper Window, at the East End of the North Cross-Isle of this Cathedral, where is represented under a Canopy the Busto of a Person in an Episcopal Habit, leaning on a Cushion. Over the said Busto are these Arms, viz. Gules 3 Flower de Lis Or, impaling Sable a Chevron between three Garbs Or.

76. GEORGE COOK, Brother to Sir John Cook, Secretary of State, and Son of Richard Cook of Trusley in Derbyshire, by Mary his Wife, Daughter and Heir of Thomas Sacheverell of Kirby in the County of Nottingham, succeeded. He was of Pembroke-Hall in Cambridge, and translated from Bristol to this See, the Temporalities of which were given him on the 7th of July,

After this Bishop's Decease, this See was vacant fourteen Years till the Restoration of King Charles the Second, and then it was supplied by

77. NICOLAS MONKE, OR LE MOYNE, third Son of Sir Thomas Monk of Potheridge in Devonshire, Kt. Son of Thomas Monke of the said Place, Gentleman, by Frances his Wife (Relict of John Bassett of Umbresley in the said County, Esq; Daughter of Arthur Plantagenet, natural Son of King Edward the Fourth, by the Lady Elizabeth Lucy, as was supposed. When this our Prelate was about 17 Years old, he went to Wadham College in the Year 1626. and after having studied in that House some Years as a Commoner, in the Year 1634. he proceeded in Arts, and enter'd into Holy Orders, and was beneficed in his own Country. He suffer'd in the Time of the Rebellion for his Loyalty; but at length had the Rectory of Kilkhampton in the County of Cornwall, worth 300 l. per Annum, given him by Sir John Granville, afterwards Earl of Bath, his Kinsman. After which he was very zealous in Scotland to promote the Restoration of King Charles the Second: And in the Month of June, 1660. he was made Provost of Eton College, and in the Beginning of August following was created Doctor of Divinity, and soon after nominated by

Whereupon his Body was interr'd on the 20th of the said Month in St. Edmund's Chapel, within the Precincts of the said Church of St. Peter. He bore for his Arms, Gules a Chevron between 3 Lions Heads erased Argent. He was succeeded by

78. HERBERT CROFT, Son of Herbert Croft, Son of Edward Croft, Esq; descended from an antient and genteel Family of his Name living at Croft-Castle in Herefordshire. He was install'd Dean of this See in the Year 1644. and preferr'd afterwards to the Bishoprick, to which he was consecrated the 9th of February, 1662. He died the 18th Day of May, 1691. and was buried within the Altar-Rails, on the South Side of the Cathedral, under a plain black Marble Stone (conjoin'd by a Hand to a like Stone, Stone, under which is interr'd Dean Benson, of whom I shall speak among the Deans) on which are these Arms cut, viz. Three Leopards Faces revers'd, each jessant a Flower de Lis, being the Arms of the See impaling his Lordship's Paternal Coat, which is Quarterly per Fess indented in Dexter Chief a Lion passant guardant. Over these Arms is a Mitre.

79. GILBERT IRONSIDE, Doctor of Divinity, succeeded. He was first Fellow, and afterwards Warden of Wadham College. He was consecrated Bishop of Bristol the 13th of October, 1689. whence he was translated to this See, and confirm'd therein the 29th of July, 1691. He died the 27th of August, 1701. and lies interr'd within the Altar Rails in St. Mary Somerset Church, London, under a black Marble Stone, whereon are these Arms engrav'd, viz. those of this See impaling his Lordship's Coat, viz. Three Leopards Faces revers'd, each jessant a Flower de Lis impaling a Cross Croslet fitchè.

He was principal Secretary to King Henry the 7th. He was preferr'd to the See of Exeter, A. 1492. whence he was translated to that of Bath and Wells the 6th of November, 1495. He pull'd down the old Abby Church of Bath, and began the Foundation of a more sumptuous Structure; but departing this Life the 24th of January, 1502. left it very imperfect, on which his Successor in that See bestow'd some Cost, and William Bird, the last Prior, endeavour'd by himself and others to have finished it; which which had been effected, had not the Dissolution of Abbies prevented it ; at which Time this new Building suffer'd much by sacrilegious Hands, who took away the Covering of Lead, and the whole Fabrick in few Years must have fell to the Ground, had not several Religious Persons bestow'd large Sums towards the repairing and finishing of the same ; among whom must be accounted that worthy Prelate, John Mountague, Doctor of Divinity, and Bishop of that See, consecrated there-to the 17th of April, 1508. who not only incited others to that good Work, but also gave 1000 l. towards the same. But here I am afraid I have digress'd too far, therefore must hasten to the next Dean ; but first take notice, that this our Doctor King, was buried at Windsor, in a little Chapel on the South Side of the Choir, over against which Place is written against the Wall, under the Portraitures of King Henry the 6th, Edward the 4th, and Henry the 7th, this Inscription :

Ibid. p. 477, & 778. DANIEL PRICE, Doctor of Divinity, born in Shrewsbury. In the Year 1594. at 16 Years of Age, he became a Commoner of St. Mary's Hall in Oxford, whence he was tranſplanted to Exeter College, where he took the Degree of Maſter of Arts, and had Holy Orders conferr'd upon him. He was one of the Chaplains in ordinary to Prince Henry; whereupon taking the Degrees in Divinity, he was made Chaplain to King James the 1ſt, and afterwards to King Charles the 1ſt. He was install'd Dean of Hereford the 16th of December, 1623. He was alſo Canon Reſidentary of Hereford, Rector of Worſthyn near Caus Caſtle in Shropſhire, and of Lanteglos in Cornwall, Juſtice of the Peace alſo for the Counties of Shrewsbury, Hereford, Montgomery, and Cornwall. He died at Worthing beforementioned the 23d of September, 1631. and was buried in the Chancel of the Church there.

JOHN RICHARDSON, Doctor of Divinity, was install'd Dean A. 1634.

JONATHAN BROWN, Doctor of Laws, of Gloucester Hall, was installed Dean A. 1636. He was afterwards Prebend of Westminster. He died in the Year 1644. He was a good Preacher, and much respected. In the Year 1633. he was Minister of St. Faith's in London (from which he was sequestred by the Fanaticks in the Time of the Rebellion) and Rector of Hertingsfordbury in the Diocess of London. He was succeeded in this Deanery by HERBERT CROFT, Doctor of Divinity, who was install'd A. 1644. and in the Year 1661. preferr'd to this Bishoprick; of whom see more among the Bishops of this See.

THOMAS HODGES, Doctor of Divinity, succeeded. He was Rector of Kensington near London before the Rebellion, and after the Restoration became Rector of St. Peter's Church in Cornhill, London. He was preferr'd to this Deanery, in which he was install'd the 10th of December, 1661. which he enjoy'd till his Death, which happen'd A. 1672. He was succeeded by MORGAN POWELL, S.T.B. was installed July 5. 1587. It's not said how it became void; but the Dean and Chapter's Registry (where the Entries about this time seem to be well and exactly made) not mentioning any other Installation, it may be presumed that Powell immediately succeeded Penfon.

There is not any Entry to be found, either in the Bishop's, or Dean and Chapter's Registry, of any Person admitted to this Dignity after Morgan Powell till the Year 1681; but altho' no such Admission or Installation does appear, I am assured by good Authority that
